Nina Sidorenko remembers.

Once upon a time, in the third or fourth year of study at the Physics Department of Moscow State University, my fellowstudent, Volodya Deshcherevsky,
when we one day met,
took my pass with this photo, looked carefully –
and a couple of days later brought a piece of poetry:

Milaya, slavnaya, I chut' chut' zabavnaya,
Hochet ulybnut'sya – obizheny glaza.
A na Ibu ukradkoj ozornaya pryadka -
Ne pojmu, o chyom ona hochet mne skazat'.

Ya I sam ne znayu, kak ya razgadayu
Pryadkinu zagadku, udivlen'e glaz.
Vdrug ya ne sumeyu I, proshchayas' s neyu,
Uhodit' pechal'no budu kazhdyj raz...

It was at the very beginning of the 1960s ...
